

SLEEP TONIGHT.

STOP INSOMNIA BEFORE IT BECOMES A HABIT.

NEGLECTED, SHABBILY TREATED

Nerves the Cause—Rev. Dr. Smith at Age of 86 Loses No More Sleep—Unbroken Rest Natural to a Fully Nourished Brain—Paine's Celery Compound Has Never Failed to Cure.

From childhood to old age health is very much a matter of soul, refreshing sleep.

No one can digest well, feel well, work well, or be well, who is night after night deprived of good sleep. It is physically impossible for any brain to keep on providing nervous energy unless the nights are devoted to nourishing its used up parts. Protracted sleeplessness, where no effort is made to feed and calm the irritable nervous system, ends in nervous prostration and insanity.

Today there are far more neuralgic headaches, far more rheumatism, sleeplessness and nervous prostration than during the last generation.

To combat this growing evil, Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., of Dartmouth college, made nervous diseases his special study. The fruitful outcome of his long years of professional investigation was Paine's celery compound. Difficult nervous disorders that had persisted despite long treatment, at once yielded to it. Men and women who had suffered for years from broken and unrefreshing sleep, from headaches, rheumatism and neuralgia, found that Paine's celery compound not only cured these troubles, but that they worked better and felt more encouraged than had been possible to them for years.

As a practical instance of what this remarkable remedy is doing all over the country, the following from Rev. Dr. Wm. A. Smith, one of the best known divines in Southern New England, deserves careful reading. Dr. Smith is today 86 years of age, yet enjoys better health than ever in his life, and never loses a single good night's sleep. He writes:

Groton, Conn.
"Dear Sirs—In my early days, by great and prolonged mental suffering, I broke down in health and became a dyspeptic, being obliged at one time to give up my work in the ministry on account of ill-health. I am now 86 years of age, and during my long life have suffered greatly from dyspepsia, torpid liver, constipation and insomnia, at times thinking that I would die for want of sleep, and it is a wonder that I am alive today with all that I have gone through. I am a wonder to myself, and to those who witness my acts and know my age. I tell them I try to obey the laws of nature, and I take Paine's celery compound whenever I need it.

By the use of Paine's celery compound I have so far recovered my health as to consider myself a well man for my age. It regulates the liver, and bowels, without any question. My appetite is now good, my sleep is refreshing, my liver active, and bowels regular, and my crutches not needed, as I can walk without a staff. People are surprised at my improved appearance and activity.

Gratefully yours,

Wm. A. Smith.

Paine's celery compound does not stop its restoring work till new, healthy tissues have taken the place of the old, shattered portions. There is not the deepest, most minute portion of the body, whether it be nerve or brain, or some vital organ, that escapes the rejuvenating, strengthening power of Paine's celery compound. In cases of severe neuralgia, rheumatism, heart palpitations, dyspepsia and nervous feebleness, Paine's celery compound is the only remedy that goes to the root of the trouble, fortifies the weakened system against these disorders and builds up a strong, healthy body.

The Story of the Dead Mute as Published Must Be Wrong as the Father is Alive.

Reid Wave:
It will be remembered that yesterday's issue of the Wave published a report of a wholesale killing of an entire family thirty miles west of Hennessey as reported by a deaf mute to his sister in Guthrie which found its way into the columns of the Guthrie Leader. This morning City Marshal Pratt received the following note on a postal card signed by the father of the mute which indicates that "Hill" is not dead at any rate. Here's the card:

City Marshal, Reid, O. T.
Dear Sir—My son, thirteen years old, deaf and dumb, disappeared from home on Sunday night the 18th inst: no trace of him can be had. The last position is that he has been abducted. A team, wagon and harness were stolen the same night one large roan horse and one ordinary pony horse. The wagon has old ticks on the hind axle. If you see any outfit of this description kindly notify his father.

FREE HOMES

Citizens Meet and Memorialize Congress

Last Night
A large number of citizens of Guthrie met in mass meeting at the United States court room last evening to take action toward influencing congress to set favorably on free home legislation. J. D. Dubois was elected chairman and O. R. Fegan secretary, and a large number of citizens took part in a general discussion on the subject of free homes.

After the ideas of a number on the best thoughts and arguments to be presented to congress had been noted Messrs. J. D. Dubois, O. R. Fegan, E. P. McCabe, C. R. Renfro and E. P. Burlingame were appointed a committee to draft a memorial to congress urging the passage of the bill giving the citizens of Oklahoma free homes.

Greer County People.

In the article descriptive of Greer county in Sunday morning's paper a typographical error made us say that the county was settled by Mexicans. It should have read Texans. There are no Mexicans in Greer county and the population is composed almost entirely of people from Texas, the majority of whom are natives of other states. They are all intelligent, energetic, enterprising people and will make a very desirable addition to the population of Oklahoma.

Sad Death.

Little Harry, the five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Burke, died at the family home at 411 Cleveland avenue yesterday morning at 7 o'clock of typhoid fever. The deceased was a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Laux and a bright and interesting little fellow. The bereaved family have the sympathy of all in their loss. The funeral takes place this morning services to be held at the Catholic church at 10:30 o'clock.

GRIZZLY AND SILVER TIP.

Three Types in California of Immense Strength and Size

The grizzly bears found all through the canyons of the Rocky and Coast mountains and spurs of the Sierra Nevada range seldom descend from lofty altitudes, remarks San Francisco Call. The grizzlies of the east and the grizzlies of the west are almost totally different animals. The Ursa Major of the Sierras are monstrous in size, endowed with ugly dispositions and prodigious strength. There are at least three distinct types of the family in California and Lower California—namely, the grizzly, brown and black bear. Besides these there are also gray bears, cinnamon bears, and the Sierra grizzlyback.

Cinnamon is simply a cross between the brown and black bears, and the mighty silver tip is neither more nor less than a mongrel of the brown or grizzly, partaking strongly of the nature of the two, but particularly of the latter. All the members of the species intermarry, and the silver tip is the king of the family. This big family, springing from the grizzly and the brown bear, combines all the ferocity and tough strength of the former, with the agility and stubbornness of the latter, each distinctive trait being more prominent in him and possessed to a greater degree than by the very animals from whom he borrows them.

MRS. BILL DOOLIN HERE.

OUTLAW'S WIFE AND BABY ARRIVE FROM PAYNE COUNTY.

AFFECTING MEETING AT THE JAIL

Courtship and Marriage of the Outlaw—Good Words From a Former Employer—A Battle of By-Gone Days—Incidents of His Career No Longer Cares to Talk.

Mrs. Doolin, wife of Bill Doolin, the notorious outlaw, arrived in Guthrie about dark last evening having driven from her home at Lawson, Payne county, in an open cart accompanied only by her two year old son. She drove as far as Perkins Monday remained there over night and came on to Guthrie yesterday.

Upon arriving here she went at once to the federal jail and was admitted to see her husband the king prisoner of the institution. The meeting between them was quite affecting and the little boy wanted his father to go along with him. After conversing with her husband for some time Mrs. Doolin left and went to a boarding house.

She is a tall woman considerable above the average in height, dark hair and complexion, and though looking worn and weary she still bears strong trace of her former beauty. The little boy is a pretty little fellow nicely dressed.

Mrs. Doolin is about twenty-five years old, the daughter of a country preacher named Elsworth who is also postmaster at Lawson, Ok. She first met Doolin four or five years ago while he was yet employed as cowboy in the Pawnee and Osage country and after a year or more of courting they were married. Their domestic happiness was rather short lived and broken however, for Doolin was so frequently called away on "business" and the deputy marshals came around too frequently to allow many protracted seasons of honeymoon.

So wary were the couple and so strange their actions at times that it was a long time before it could be learned that Doolin was married and it took twice as long to find out who it was he had married.

It was something over two years ago before Doolin began the most desperate part of his career that it was decided to give him a chance to come in and give himself up stand trial and be proven guilty or innocent. A letter was sent to him at Ingalls making the offer from the department of justice, but he did not call for it and Deputy Tilghman went to see Mrs. Doolin (then known as Miss Elsworth) and urged her to see him, have him get the letter and come in. She denied up and down being his wife or being in any way connected with him, in fact said she had never seen him that she knew of and of course had no interest in whether he was proven innocent or guilty. Tilghman came away completely baffled and the next day the letter was returned as uncalled for.

The evening of the day the letter had been sent back to Guthrie, however, Doolin walked into the Ingalls postoffice and asked for it. Had he been a day sooner and received that letter his subsequent career might have been very different from what it has been.

Mrs. Doolin, in conversation last evening stated that Bill had been wanting to give himself up for over a year. He wanted to settle down and live a quiet life, but of course had no chance as long as there were so many charges against him and he was being hunted on every side. She was glad he was captured at last and that it had been done by a brave man who did not shoot him down. He would now have a chance to prove that the many charges against him were false and that he was hunted and persecuted for crimes of others with whom he had no connection save having been associated with them on the range before they took to lives of crime.

Mrs. Doolin will probably remain several days and help her husband secure defense. Doolin, himself, on being asked last night as to whether the woman was his wife or not and where he had met her said he did not care to talk on the subject.

Doolin's Early Career.

The Arkansas City Traveler last evening has the following to say about Bill Doolin's early career:

As stated in a recent issue of the Traveler, Bill Doolin was at one time in the employ of T. A. Hill, of this city, when the latter had charge of cattle down on the Salt Fork for the Wyeth Cattle company. Doolin belonged to the 4-D gang, and Mr. Hill says that he was the most peaceable and quiet one of the whole outfit. He worked for Mr. Hill during the winter of '88-'89, and bore the reputation of being an inoffensive, quiet, industrious man. He is quite shrewd as a paragon of virtues, compared to the picturesque crowd of pirates who composed the "4-D" crowd at that time. That crowd used to make a specialty of coming up here and attempting to run the town. They were not generally successful in this, but they did paint her a bright, bright red. Bill Doolin seldom came up with the rest of the crowd when they were on a spree. Prominent among the other rough ride a of that lurid time on the Salt Fork was Slaughter Kid, who also worked for Mr. Hill and afterwards also became prominent in desperate crimes.

A Precious Memento.

When Bill Doolin was searched after being arrested there was found stowed away in an inside pocket and carefully wrapped and preserved a single sheet of note paper, yellow with age and creases almost worn through. On one side were some figures on the other side written in a feminine hand sentiment in prose and poetry as follows—possibly a relic of his courting days or some sweetheart of his youth:

Good-bye.
How often by that lonely word
Our pleasures have been given.
Good-bye is often said on earth
But never said in Heaven.
Be ever true to your manhood
that your life may be a prosperous and a happy one is the earnest wishes of your friend.
Learn to think, for thoughts are
Learn, oh learn to think aright,
And embody thoughts in action.
Then press on with all your might.
Live to make life grand and noble,
Live to make it pure and true,
Learn to act your own part bravely,
Learn to think and learn to do.

Gentlemen: Your favor of the 4th inst. and also the bottle of Dandierine arrived here duly.

I have very little faith in these things but I am not too hide bound to try them. I shall with pleasure give the matter a thorough test, hoping that it may do what I have heretofore regarded as an impossibility. I do not know whether it would injure my business to disguise myself with hair or not. I think, however, that I would chance it very cheerfully.
